

CANNABIS SECURITY

With the rapidly changing landscape of cannabis legislation, vendors are seeking stability. Secure vendor and consumer confidence. Use our cannabis security products to help provide the security customers are seeking.

As cannabis moves toward widespread legalization, cannabis manufacturers and packagers are taking steps to maintain industry compliance. NovaVision provides products that can support your security efforts needed to maintain industry compliance for your marijuana, cannabis, and cannabis products.

Cannabis Packaging Labels

Tamper evident packaging provides visible evidence for the safety of your unopened products. If a product appears to be compromised it can be a considerable financial burden on everyone involved. Beyond the resources presented here, we have hundreds of other products to support your security needs.

Hologram Labels

NovaVision manufactures cannabis security hologram labels with original designs for increased security. Tamper evident holograms are excellent for brand authentication.

Additionally, our security holograms combine stock and custom hologram images, tamper evident materials, consecutive serial numbers, barcodes, special inks, and other materials to produce a product that meets your security and budget requirements.

Frangible Seals

Frangible seals are typically lower cost and are often used on higher volume applications including retail products, medications, confidential documents, etc. Frangible paper tears easily when removed. After application, the paper seal can be removed, but it is designed to tear into multiple pieces or delaminate. Frangible paper seals are available in stock and custom versions.

Warning Labels

A product's labeling and health warnings are important parts of a consumer product's regulatory framework. Additionally, warning labels are often required to retain industry standards. Properly marking and labeling your cannabis products allows you to maintain that industry compliance while increasing consumer trust.

Cargo Security

Cargo security seals are used to secure a variety of containers. All of our mechanical security seals include pre-assigned unique serial numbers. Some seals include matching bar codes. We offer barrier seals, bolt seals, cable seals, plastic adjustable bands, and more.

Our mechanical security seals are based on the broken seal concept. These products are designed for one-time use.
